Mention 2 for Dulles' Job

U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R., Blanchester, says the top people being considered to succeed Allen Dulles at head of the Central Intelligence Agency are General Maxwell Taylor, retired, and Deputy Attorney General Byron R. White.

There has been no official word from Dulles and the White House but the CIA chief's resignation has been expected since the Cuban fiasco. Congress has still not decided whether to investigate activities of the CIA or set up a watchdog type committee.
